

In the specification:

Amend the paragraph beginning at page 3, line 24 with the following:

A It is thus useful to consider the susceptibility of a digital electronic camera to electrical and/or physical modification. An example of modifications -- much more extensive than are required by the present invention -- to an existing digital camera to support of its use in a non-standard, space borne, environment is shown in a Stanford University student project ~~reported on the World Wide Web at~~ <http://maverick.stanford.edu/>.